

USE YOUR HEAD. WEAR A HELMET.

Coldwell Banker is a philanthropic partner with Mercy Health Foundation, encouraging helmet use, especially among active children and young adults at risk for traumatic brain injury.

The Mercy Gray Matters program educates the community about traumatic brain injuries and encourages people to wear helmets while participating in their favorite sports. Gray Matters also distributes free sports helmets to those who need them but who can't get them for financial or other reasons.

Coldwell Banker and Mercy Health Foundation are raising funds to support this important program. Look for the next Gray Matters event coming soon. For more information, contact Coldwell Banker or Mercy Health Foundation at (970) 764-2800.
